SAM'S SUPPLY TOO BIG.

An Opium Fiend Who Carried a Stock of the Drug.

Sam Hoy, arrested for having opium in his possession, was fined $50 and costs by Judge Wilcox yesterday. The Chinese stated that he had a certificate from the Government physician allowing him to have thirty grains of the poppy extract in his possession for medicinal purposes. Sam Hoy, however, used the opium over and over again, and managed to scrape up quite a large quantity.

His plea was that he could not at all times find the Government physician and he resorted to this method of keeping himself supplied. The Judge thought that Sam was going into the opium business and found him guilty of the charge.

HIS REASON GONE, HE MUNCHES SAND

Kaona, Afflicted With Madness, is Sent to Asylum.

Kaona, the native man of Kakaako, was adjudged insane yesterday by Dr. Emerson. The doctor stated before Judge Wilcox that the man was dangerous in his present condition, and that the treatment in the asylum would benefit him. Kaona has peculiar delusions. A religious mania has overcome him and he believes he is one of the biblical characters whose chief fame was his great age.

He says he is 228 years old, and for twenty years has lived in heaven, where the streets are paved with gold, and milk and honey flow through them. At other times his hallucinations cause him to claim that he is Jehovah, and upon these occasions he asserts too much authority and is said to be a dangerous man.

Being a superior character, his diet is different from that of ordinary mortals. Every dish of food placed before him is made more palatable by the addition of sand. A mixed diet of rice, sand and poi seems to be relished by Kaona, and he insists upon eating his food thus seasoned. While occupying a cell at the police station he refused to eat the food placed before him unless his handful of sand was allowed with it.

Dr. Emerson designated Kaona as a degenerate, saying that the arteries were affected in a strange manner, producing peculiar marks on his face and ears. These odd symptoms were enough to convince Judge Wilcox that Kaona was a fit subject for the asylum, and thither he was sent.

WILL MAKE THEM HAWAIIAN CITIZENS

Civil Rights are to be Restored to a Number of Persons.

Governor Dole will in a few days restore to their civil rights all those who were deprived of their political status during the rebellion of '95 or for other offenses under the Republic. This restoration of civil rights contemplates a practical wiping out of the political list which has been kept by the Government for several years past. At present there remain but four names upon the books to be acted upon by the Governor.

Secretary Cooper has busied himself of late in looking up the lists of others who have been convicted and imprisoned for various offenses and crimes with a view to restoring civil rights to those who are deserving of executive clemency. Nearly all the political prisoners had their rights restored in full.

Persons who committed misdemeanors and served out their full terms of imprisonment did not lose their political rights, whereas those committed for felonies did. Many names have been laid before the Governor, petitioning that he extend to them executive aid, so that they may take equal place among their fellow-men. In many of these cases favorable action will be taken.

A story about little Prince Edward of York appears in the British Weekly. Not long ago he was taken over a British man-of-war, and was much interested in a large, heavily built chest which was shown him. "What does that hold?" he asked the tall officer who accompanied him. "Powder," was the reply. The little boy looked sympathetically at the stalwart figure, and observed: "Then do you take powders, too?"

There is not an ounce of headache in a barrel of it, Jesse Moore "AA" Whiskey. Try it and see for yourself.

THERE WAS A SOUND OF REVELRY BY NIGHT; SWIPES PROVES SOURCE OF LOUD DELIGHT

A CROWD of revellers, white and native men, congregated at a swipes joint on Miller street above Beretania Wednesday evening. It was their night off and they proceeded to jollify in a manner which made the neighbors believe the Boxers had turned loose on the community. Occasionally the noise subsided. Then bedlam broke loose again and fights were frequent. Every door in the vicinity was opened and the residents came out to ascertain the cause of the racket. One of them, braver than the rest, summoned up courage to take a peep inside. He saw a number of natives and white men stretched out on the floor of the house shouting, swearing, singing and carousing in a manner which caused the peeper to make tracks for the street. He rushed over to the house of Special Officer Vonberg and with the latter official went back to the scene of the orgie.

Vonberg took in the situation at a glance, and quickly made up his mind that for one to tackle seven or eight big men under the influence of liquor was a feat which even a police officer was not supposed to attempt. He went to the corner and rang up the patrol wagon. The "hurry-up" galloped to the corner on the jump, and Officers Hanrahan and Vonberg reconnoitered.

When Hanrahan entered the yard exits were made through windows, back doors and other avenues of escape. One man attempted to keep the officer out, but was thrust aside. All but three had fled, and these were taken to the station. The trio was fined $2 and costs for each man by Judge Wilcox yesterday. Later it was learned that others in the house could be apprehended, one of whom was named Woodward, a tax collector, who was recognized by his badge of office. He was captured in the afternoon and will be tried this morning.

The house in which the drunken men were found bears an unsavory record and is a common place of meeting for all classes of men who know they can procure swipes there.
